

HOW TO START AN ESSAY

Introduction

Introduction is the starting point for setting tone and explaining background in which you should use a hook sentence and context.

Outlines

Consider main points while including brainstormed ideas to organize them logically. Prioritize to add new ideas after revisions with credibility.

Body

The body of an essay is the main table on which you present your primary arguments and share supportive evidence.

Conclusion

Conclusion indicates the writers' intentions by describing "what to include" and "what not to include." So that they open up their thoughts.
